

2017 Methods Café

Friday, September 1, 12:00 – 1:30 PM

ROOM: TBD

American Political Science Association, San Francisco, CA

Curious how to incorporate ethnography into your next project or what a feminist approach to your research question might look like? Ever wondered what critical race studies or postcolonial studies might add to your work? Interested in meeting with journal editors to learn how to best present your research for publication? Join over twenty-five methods specialists at the 2017 Methods Café to discuss all things methods-related in an informal setting with a friendly vibe conducive to small group discussions, networking, and mentoring support.

As a café visitor, you may arrive at any point, visit any table you like, and stay as long as you like. We extend an invitation in particular to doctoral students looking for assistance with any aspect of a research project, as well as to faculty with questions about researching and/or teaching these subjects.

Host:

Elizabeth Newcomer, The Graduate Center, CUNY

Organizers:

Samantha Ann Majic, John Jay College, CUNY
Timothy Pachirat, University of Massachusetts,
Amherst

Archives:

Amel F. Ahmed, University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Emily Hauptmann, Western Michigan University
Kenneth Kato, Office of the House Historian

Publishing:

Cyrus Ernesto Zirakzadeh, University of Connecticut
Jeffrey C. Isaac, Indiana University, Bloomington
Aaron Javscicas, Temple University Press

Critical Race Studies:

Anna Sampaio, Santa Clara University

Discourse Analysis:

Lisa Wedeen, University of Chicago

Ethics and Research Openness:

Sarah E. Parkinson, Johns Hopkins University
Elisabeth Jean Wood, Yale University

Concept Elucidation:

Frederic C. Schaffer, University of Massachusetts,
Amherst

Feminist Methods:

Mary Hawkesworth, Rutgers University

Funding:

Laura Blyler, Social Science Research Council

Interviewing:

James M. Curry, University of Utah
Lee Ann Fujii, University of Toronto

Postcolonial Studies:

Yasmeen Daifallah, University of Massachusetts,
Amherst

Ethnography/Participant Observation:

Noelle K. Brigden, Marquette University
Robin L. Turner, Butler University

Teaching Methods:

Cecelia Lynch, University of California, Irvine
Ido Oren, University of Florida

Researching Sexualities:

Dara Z. Strolovitch, Princeton University

Research Design:

Dvora Yanow, Wageningen University

Ethics and the IRB:

Peregrine Schwartz-Shea, University of Utah

Visual Analysis:

Mary L. Bellhouse, Providence College